FLAMES LEAVE DEATH AND RUIN IN WAKE

Canadian Towns Wiped Out by Great Forest Fires Which Rage Near Nelson.

ENORMOUS DAMAGE TO PROPERTY IS CAUSED

Gases Generated by Fury of Blaze Makes Seething Fire Leap Half Mile at Time.

NELSON, B. C., July 19.—The smoldering brush and forest fires which Saturday were believed to be under control have revived and are causing death and enormous damage to property.

FLAMES RAZE TOWN.

Kaslo is the center of the most serious loss. The town of Whitewater has been swept clean as a floor. Not a vestige of a habitation remains.

Refugees are fleeing to Kaslo, where many who were overcome have been cared for. All the women and children from Sandon were brought down to New Denver Monday afternoon as a precautionary measure. The Rambler-Caribou buildings are a total loss.

Five yards report that the Canadian Pacific rail and timber limits at Sandon, on the east side of Kootenay Lake, are burning. Help is asked for everywhere, and all available men are pressed into the fire-fighting service.

FIRE LEAPS HALF MILE.

Rescue trains from Kaslo were unable to pass Bear Lake, and returned, crowded with refugees, all panic-stricken. Many women and children, overcome with fume, and smoke, were cared for by the hospital authorities and by citizens of Kaslo. Extensive bush fires in the vicinity of Moyie already have caused destruction aggregating $100,000. Gases generated by the fury of the fire make the seething flames jump half a mile.

Another disastrous fire is reported to be raging at Clarkson's and spreading rapidly in the direction of Nelson.

The largest possible gathering of fire fighters is in the field. Over 2,000,000 feet of timber have been destroyed in the Nelson district.

SPOKANE, July 19.—The town of Ryan, on the Columbia river, twelve miles south of the Canadian boundary, is reported to have been wiped out by a forest fire. At 6 o'clock last evening the fire line covered approximately the whole territory from Rosario to Moses along the west side of the Columbia river, and from Rosario north to Ryan, on the east side of the river, a tract ten miles long and seven miles wide. Millions of feet of timber are also reported destroyed.

FIRES NEAR HOQUAM

HOQUAM, Wash., July 19.—A forest fire is rapidly threatening a large area stretching up the North River country, about sixteen miles southeast of town. Up to the present little damage has been done, but this has been prevented only through the efforts of nearly 100 fire fighters who are patrolling the district.

Winning Architects Arrive in Oakland

Henry Hornbostel and Sullivan W. Jones Confer with Officials.

Henry Hornbostel and Sullivan W. Jones, the architects representing the firm of Palmer & Hornbostel, which was awarded the first prize for plans for the $1,000,000 city hall of Oakland arrived here today and held their first conference at 2 o'clock this afternoon with the city officials. They visit Mayor Moto in his office at the city hall, and were presented to City Engineer Turner, City Attorney John W. Stinson, and to Walter Fawcett, secretary of the board of works.

Henry Hornbostel is known throughout the United States as an architect of marked ability. He won the second prize in the Phoenix A. Heard contest some years ago for plans for the great University of California, in which a hundred and twenty architects of America and Europe competed.

FIST FIGHTS FOR 'KIDS' FAVERED BY PROFESSOR

DENVER, Colo., July 19.—"Religion is a big thing to the human race, but it may be dangerous; there is nothing quite so dangerous as a big idea in a little mind," Dr. G. S. Hall, resident of Clark University, declared in a lecture here last night. Dr. Hall also advocated the encouragement of fist fights between children as a means of developing their courage and spirit.

"If a man with a small soul is fully possessed of religion, something dreadful is liable to happen," Dr. Hall said.

The speaker said that keeping children ignorant of many of the essential points of the sex problem was little short of criminal. He also sharply criticised muckrakers and expressed the belief that more reform could be accomplished without the glare of trumpets.

GIRL MEETS DEATH TRYING TO SAVE SWEETHEART

Couple Found Dead Together, Electrocuted by High Power Wire

TRINIDAD, Colo., July 19.—The dead bodies of Roy Keller, superintendent of the Delagua Power Plant, and Miss Elizabeth Bennett, sixteen years old, whom Keller is said to have been engaged to marry, were found upon the floor of the power plant late yesterday. It is supposed that Miss Bennett accompanied Keller to the plant while he made some repairs.

While at work a live wire is thought to have electrocuted him and that the girl met a similar fate in attempting to render him assistance.

PHONE ACROSS ATLANTIC IS PLAN

Talk Between London and New York May Be Possible

NEW YORK, July 19.—Telephonic communication between England and America may seem a possibility if a new experimental submarine cable recently laid across the English channel by the British post office answers expectations.

The cable extends from Dover to Capo di Ferri and is the first of the kind to be laid in tidal waters.

According to reports received by American telephone officials, the tests made have given very satisfactory results and it is expected that the cable will be opened for public use between London and Paris as soon as the French government has completed the connection and so on.

Government reports do not say that they will immediately begin connecting the new cable with the continent of Europe and no improvements effected will bring spoken communication between London and New York within the bounds of possibility.

Would Bar School Girl as Lawbreaker

Board of Education Declares Doris Bradford Has Gone Beyond Rights.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—In behalf of the Board of Education, City Attorney Long this morning filed in the Superior Court the school directors' answer in the suit brought by Doris Bradford to compel the board to reinstate her as a pupil in the girls' high school. The answer states that she Bradford is ineligible to the high school because she being admitted there as a pupil in violation of state law declaring fraternities and sororities illegal. She joined the Omega Nu of the Gamma Beta Chapter.

Mrs. Bradford admits that she violated this law in a denunciation she had filed to the Board of Education's answer, and that the law itself is unconstitutional and that therefore the school directors had set up no good defense in their answer.

Montreal Threatened With Big Milk Famine Unless Situation Is Relieved.

15,000 SAID TO BE THROWN OUT OF WORK

Danger of Walkout on the Pennsylvania System Seems to Have Passed.

MONTREAL, July 19.—A new turn was given to the situation in the strike of the Grand Trunk Railway conductors and trainmen shortly after noon today by the receipt of a dispatch from the Minister of Labor at Ottawa, offering on behalf of the government to appoint a board of arbitration in the trouble between the company and its employees, the finding to be binding on both and the government to bear all expenses in connection therewith.

The offer was submitted in the form of a letter to President Hayes of the Grand Trunk and to the head officials of the unions involved, and is now under consideration by them.

MONTREAL, July 19.—The strike continues here and will remain in readiness to act in case of emergency.

The government realizes that as matters now stand rioting might result.

Trains are not available in sufficient numbers to haul parts to English-speaking countries.

Until those sections, which are chiefly in the remote corners of the country can be properly protected, every effort will be made to postpone for her an agonizing trial.

All suburban trains on the Grand Trunk Railway running into Montreal were cancelled this morning. Thousands of business men and others were compelled to find other means of reaching the city.

Milk trains were also cancelled and a large section of the city is threatened with a milk famine.

ARMY UNEQUIPPED GIFFORD PINCHOT IS IN THE CITY FOR DAY

FORMER FORESTER TALKS OF TAFT AND POLICIES

General Allen Declares Nation Lacking Complement Would Deserve Defeat.

VALUABLE SERVICES ARE PERFORMED BY AVIATORS

Lack of Appropriations for Experiments Deplored by Chief Signal Officer.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Any nation which sent an army into the field for actual fighting today without a complement of air machines—airplanes and dirigible balloons—would not be equipped properly and would deserve defeat.

This is the conclusion reached by General James Allen, chief signal officer of the United States army after an exhaustive study of the pros and cons of army aeronautics. General Allen, whose position makes him head of military air navigation in this country, is in New York on a brief business visit.

LANDS AIR MACHINES.

"The equipment of no army is complete today without air machines," he said, in an interview given out today. "Many improvements doubtless will be made soon, but even with their present capacity, air machines can perform very well of the greatest value."

"Two years ago, when experiments were started at Fort Myer, air navigation was considered impracticable by many. It is not an accomplished fact."

FOREIGNERS IN LEAD.

"Germany and France have taken the lead in aviation because those governments have granted large appropriations for the work. We asked Congress for $200,000 two years ago and $500,000 last year, but nothing was appropriated. But the development of air machines in this country will continue because private interests are taking up the problem with increasing enthusiasm."

MEXICO CITY, July 19.—The Mexican Government is to construct a fleet of aeroplanes for use in military affairs. One of the German engineers of the engineering corps of the army, who was sent to Europe several months ago by the Government to study aerial navigation, has returned and reports that it will not be difficult to construct machines that can be used in this high altitude.

BALLOON IS SIGHTED.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 19.—A balloon believed to be the Drifter, which ascended at Hamilton, Ohio, last night carrying Walter J. Collins and George Howard of Cincinnati passed over here at 5 o'clock this morning. The balloon came from the northeast and disappeared in the southwest.

The basket appeared to be red and two men were visible in it. Harrisburg is about 340 miles from Hamilton.

SENSATIONS IN COTTON MARKET

Sudden Advance of Yesterday Followed by Equally Sudden Break.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The sensational advance in July cotton, continuing at 16.56 yesterday, followed by an almost equally remarkable decline today, is due to the recent urgent buying of contracts and the heavy shipments of cotton in this direction from Liverpool and the south. It looked as if the July shorts had secured cover, and when some cotton was offered today the price suffered severely.

After selling at 16.45, early July gradually worked off to 16.56 and broke to 16.40, a single sale, while only a few thousand bales changed hands during the entire morning. This represented a loss from the closing quotation of yesterday of more than $4 per bale and a decline of $4.50 a bale from the high point of yesterday.

Other positions were weak also.

August sold at a net loss of 39 points.

Horse Thieves Held For Train Robbery

FAIRFIELD, Cal., July 19.—The men giving the names of James C Brown and Charles Dunbar, who were arrested near Sacramento, charged with holding up and robbing a mail train, have been partly identified as the bandits who held up and robbed the China and Japan fast mail train at GoodYear, this county, April 17, were brought here today by Sheriff J. J. McDonald, and lodged in the Solano county jail. Witnesses will be assembled for the purpose of identification.

Sheriff McDonald is convinced that he has the right men.

THE KEYSTONE TO HEALTH IS HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

The process of digestion and assimilation depends entirely upon the condition of the stomach. If yours is weak take a short course of the Bitters. It prevents Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Cramps and Diarrhoea.

GIFFORD PINCHOT, former chief forester, who has been visiting here.

May Pay No Attention to the Challenge Issued by Frank Short.

IS HERE IN BEHALF OF CANDIDATE KENT

Deposed Chief Is Scheduled to Speak Tonight at San Francisco.

Both From East and the Pair Make Effort to Hide Behind Sullen Demeanor.

SACRAMENTO, July 19.—Through the arrest of two campers in the outskirts of this city by Constable Mike Judge yesterday, Sheriff Rees and the heads of the detective department of the Southern Pacific believe they have in the county jail the men who held up and robbed the Japan Limited train at Goodyear on April 16. The arrested men are Charles Dunbar and Carl B. Blinck, Chief Special Agent P. J. Kelly of the Southern Pacific say they have enough evidence against the men to warrant holding them.

When arrested by Constable Judge Dunbar and Bishop had a small arsenal of firearms in their camp near the American River. The numbers of these guns correspond to those taken from the Riverside Arms and Cycle Company of Riverside on March 8.

Two other guns were stolen in the Riverside burglary, but these were found, one in the boat and the other near the scene of the train hold up near Goodyear. Besides these facts the officers say the description of the ten under arrest tally with that given by the mail clerk of the limited and also with that given by fishermen who witnessed two men in the marshes near Sierra several weeks before the daing train robbery.

FURTHER CLEWS.

Further proof to fasten the crime on Dunbar and Bishop was unearthed among the effects of the two, which are similar to those the train robbers used.

The capture of the pair, however, was made possible by the timely intervention of the two and arrested them. State Office, D. E. Bishop, a former secretary of commerce, and former State Senator, Oscar F. Johnson, chairman of the permanent Local Industry, F. D. Parsons, Chairman George H. Waddell, E. H.

To Frank K. Mott, Mayor and members of the Board of Public Works of the City of Oakland:

We, the undersigned manufacturers, producers, contractors and material men and our employees of the various industries, hereby respectfully petition your honorable body to see that all the money voted under the recent bond issue for the erection of the new city hall, municipal fire and police buildings, and for street and waterfront improvements be spent with local contractors and that they be requested to patronize local manufacturers, merchants and中间人 and employers, thereby keeping the money in circulation in this community to a greater prosperity of its merchants and workmen.

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN TO STIR UP BOURBONS

James A. Lloyd to Be Greeted at the San Francisco Reception; Hasson Agrees to Make Fight

UTH DEMANDS

id to Look on Alden Anderson As Logical Candidate for Nomination.

S ANGELES, July 19.—With Alden Anderson and Phil Stanton both in Los Angeles, and the last phase of the campaign over, this city may be said to stand as a point of vantage. And it has come to the point where Republican voters insist upon an audit of stock being taken. Realizing three Republican candidates cannot win in the field against Johnson with hope of winning, the voters demand two be eliminated. As none of the candidates seem disposed to retire, there quiet, tacit movement to eliminate and agree upon one who can beat the Democratic candidate.

The will be a reception at the Argonaut hotel in San Francisco next Saturday morning in honor of James A. Lloyd, chairman of the Democratic National Congressional Committee, who is making a tour of the country and whose desire is to come in touch with the party leaders, that he may bring them to render efforts in the coming campaign. Lloyd is known among the leaders of his party on the other side of the bay and there will be a great deal of pleasure on the part of these to make his stay in their midst as pleasant as possible, and at the same time one of profit to the Democracy.

The will be no union labor ticket in the field in San Francisco this year. This is in keeping with the understanding reached at the state convention which was held at Monterey recently.

There was a bet made in San Francisco, according to Frank Daoux, and our alert Lackie of $150 to $100 that Hiram Johnson would not win the Republican nomination for governor. Daoux also bet $100 to $100 that Stanton also would not get the nomination.

HASSON TO RUN.

There is, at length, a candidate of the Democratic party to make the run for Congress against J. C. Neely, who is to represent the Sixth Congressional district, although the most available members of the Democratic party had been requested to enter the race, and declined. Fred Hasson of Fresno has as named the honor.

In an effort to find a man to make the fight against Neelyham the leaders of the Democratic organization in the Sixth Congressional district sought to gain the endorsement of George W. McKinley, who is well known and has represented the people of Fresno county in both the state assembly and senate, although when he went to the assembly he represented a rural element in that section. When four years ago he was elected to the senate from the Twenty-sixth senatorial district from Fresno, he went there as a Democrat.

But Cartwright, with the prestige he received by reason of the passage of the anti-trust bill, could not be induced to seek the place in either Congress. Neelyham has satisfied his constituents for more than a decade.

HOLOHAN REFCSES.

There was an attempt to induce State Senator James B. Holohan of Watsonville, representing the Twenty-ninth senatorial district, which comprises Santa Cruz and San Mateo counties, to seek congressional honors by defeating Mr. Needham. But Holohan decided that he was not seeking the honor of defeat, and so declined.

Edwin T. Clegg of the Stockton May also decline to engage in the fight, and his decision occasioned great regret among the Democrats. He held the proposition under consideration for some time and his deliberation caused some of his friends to feel that he would enter the race.

SEEKING STANTON'S SEAT.

This is the first campaign in eight years in which Philip A. Stanton of Los Angeles has not appealed to the people of the Seventy-first assembly district as a candidate for the position of whom dynamite from that district. As it is, he is now seeking a nomination on the Republican ticket for the office of governor of the state.

The omission of the names from the official list was occasioned by the fact that the late rush of petitions to the rendered it impossible for the intended to make it.

The Humbug About Roosevelt.

"Wait till Roosevelt talks for Beveridge in 'Indiana,'" exclaims the Sacramento Bee. Why not wait till he talks for Lodge in Massachusetts? When Roosevelt speaks for Beveridge in Indiana the primaries will be over and the Republican nominees selected. The issue will then be between Republicans and Democrats, not between loyal Republicans and insurgents. In Indiana the primaries have been held and the tickets placed in the field.

Beveridge had no Republican opposition in the primary elections. Where he did meet opposition was in the State Convention when he proposed a tariff plank that repudiated the protective policy and the tariff act passed by the Republican majority in Congress and approved by President Taft. On the tariff issue he stands practically on the same platform as his Democratic antagonist, John W. Kern. The Republican nominees for Congress in the Hoosier State are all standing pat on the Payne-Aldrich tariff, which improves on better acquaintance, and if Beveridge's attitude on the tariff be lauded the Republican Congressional nominees will by necessary implication be condemned. So will President Taft, who signed the bill. Beveridge voted against it and has since defended it in a number of speeches.

Roosevelt will doubtless praise Beveridge as an able and honest man, and may even specially commend him for the quality of independence, but it is a moral certainty that he will not endorse his position on the tariff. He cannot do so without directly impugning President Taft—and the Republicans who voted for the Payne-Aldrich bill. He will not do this, for he proposes to make at least one speech in Massachusetts in favor of Senator Lodge, who is opposed by Butler Ames, an insurgent or near Republican.

The plain truth is that Roosevelt will make some Republican speeches after the campaign is fairly opened, but he will not take sides in the factional and personal quarrels between Republicans. When he does take the stump he will laud President Taft and the work of the Republican majority in Congress, and appeal to the voters to stand by the Republican party. There will be no endorsement of insurgency in his utterances or his attitude.

The Sacramento Bee and the Los Angeles Herald are taking the lead in tooting for Hiram Johnson and vociferating the Lincoln-Roosevelt League slander that all Republicans who refuse to support the Rowell-Spreckels ticket and program are servile tools of the Southern Pacific, but neither the Bee nor the Herald will support Johnson in case he is nominated. They will support Theodore Bell, who is to be the Democratic nominee. They are sickening on this fight in the Republican party in the hope of electing Bell.

Those Queer Water Contracts.

The contracts which the Bay Cities Company is asking the citizens of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda to sign binds the signers to take water supplied by the Bay Cities outfit for a period of ten years, but do not specify where the water is to come from.

By plausible statements the idea is conveyed that the water is to come from Mount Hamilton or the Sierra Nevada, but the contracts are suspiciously silent on this point.

No verbal statement or side agreement can alter the terms of a written contract, hence the Bay Cities people can furnish water from the cheapest and most convenient source of supply regardless of quality—sloughs, brackish wells or contaminated streams.

Nor will the Bay Cities people state specifically in writing whence they propose to draw the supply of water they agree to furnish. There is a reason for this refusal. The Spring Valley Company claims the first right to the Mount Hamilton supply, and it will cost $50,000,000 and take many years' time to bring water from the Sierra Nevada. Hence the persons who are deluded into signing the Bay Cities contracts are binding themselves without recourse to buy a pig in a poke. They do not know what sort of water they are to get or where it is to come from.

And they are binding themselves to pay more for this water than they are now being charged.

A municipal ordinance forbids the posting of advertising and election cards on telegraph and telephone poles within the corporation limits, but it is brazenly violated by a lot of office-holders headed by the Mayor's secretary. All over the city telegraph poles are disfigured with half a dozen or more cards and posters of candidates for office. The Director of Streets should tear down these posters at once and the Chief of Police should order the arrest of every person engaged in putting them up. A general round-up of the candidates in the police court would contribute to the humor of the campaign and, perhaps, inspire a more wholesome respect for the law.

Effect of Fear of an Income Tax.

Difficulty is experienced all over the country in selling public bond issues. Municipal and county bonds are going a-begging in the market, although they are gilt-edged security and have heretofore been in active demand. Doubtless the advance in interest rates accounts in some measure for the reluctance of investors to buy municipal and county bonds, but fear of the proposed income tax amendment to the Federal Constitution is the principal reason why such securities are selling so slowly.

Securities backed by public credit usually bear a low rate of interest, but have been eagerly sought in the past because of the safety they afford for investment and their exemption from taxation. Now that the Federal government proposes to tax incomes derived from State, county and municipal bonds capital does not find them such an inviting investment.

As yet the income tax amendment has not been ratified by the requisite number of States, but there is a general feeling that it will finally be ratified and become a part of the Constitution. Once adopted an income tax is sure to be levied. The moment that it is there will be an increase of interest rates on public bonds to offset the tax on incomes. That is why investors are waiting to see what is done with the income tax amendment. Should it be speedily ratified there would be still more waiting to see what percentage of tax Congress will levy.

Alfred Anderson's popularity with the fruitgrowers is justified by trial and experience. Mr. Anderson is himself a successful horticulturist and is familiar with every detail of the fruit industry in California. He demonstrated his business capacity and integrity while he served the Fruitgrowers' Association as manager. Naturally the fruitgrowers all over the State regard him as an ideal candidate for Governor. He is safe, he is honest and he is progressive, also a capable administrator.

Topics Timely and Interesting

There are nearly half a million horse and motor vehicles of all kinds in Paris with 30,000 handcars and 9000 wheelbarrows. In 1909 65,870 accidents were caused in the Paris streets by 81,868 vehicles. These statistics are contained in a report drawn up by M. Emile Massard at the request of the Paris Municipal Council on the encumbrance of the Paris streets. One of M. Massard's calculations shows that the street traffic of Paris, if stationary, would occupy 445 acres of the 2070 acres of streets which Paris possesses. Last year 600,000 persons traveled by omnibus and tramway and there were 284,000 passengers on the underground railway.

Cleveland, where the idea of a "safe and sane" celebration of the Fourth of July was first put into practice, has set another example for other cities to follow. A charity worker with a fertile brain has succeeded in having distributed about the city thousands of firecracker banks, in which persons are asked to drop the money that they would have contributed toward noise and locking up the old way of celebrating the day was still followed. The funds thus collected are to be spent in giving the poorer children of Cleveland a good time.

New Yorkers who can't afford to drink champagne, but who carelessly throw dimes to street beggars, despite the protests of the police and charity workers, ought to read the disclosures following the arrest of a pair of professional mendicants in Chicago a few days ago. The rooms in which they lived and which were raided gave every evidence of high living. They were handsomely furnished, and from the number of champagne bottles discovered it was apparent that they were fond of choice vintages. There was a miscellaneous collection of negliges, plaster and casts, bandages and crutches for making cripples to order and a jaw bankbooks with daily entry of deposits, a substantial tribute to the gullibility of the public. "People with tender hearts and no judgment are responsible for creating these scoundrels," said a detective who made the arrests. "They are plain swindlers. People oughtn't to give money without investigating."

An absent-minded German professor attached to a university in Washington discovered the other day that he had left his umbrella somewhere. As he had visited three stores, he thought it must be in one of them, so he started back and called at all three in turn.

"No umbrella has been found here," the professor was told in the first store. The German shrugged his shoulders and went out.

At the next store the same response was made; whereupon the professor shrugged his shoulders once more, and went to the third establishment. There he found his umbrella awaiting him.

"I must say," he said to his family on returning home, "they were more honest at the last place than at the other stores."—Lippincott's.

Wonderful Growth of the Telephone

The telephone report of the Bureau of the Census, now in the press, shows the position of that indispensable industry in 1907 and its marvelous increase in the five years since 1902:

1907.	1902.
Messages in 1907...11,000,000,000	6,000,000,000
Systems and lines.....	12,000,000
Subsidiary companies.....	2,208
Salaries paid.....	$10,295,422
Wage earners.....	84,747
Capital and funded debt.....	$48,982,701
Capital.....	$31,616,004
Operating expenses.....	$18,401,747
Dividends and interest.....	10,200,000
Total net interest.....	$12,310,309

In 1902 the mileage of wire devoted to telephones was almost four times as great as the mileage used for telegraph purposes, but in 1907 it was eight times as great.

In the amount of business done in 1907, the amount paid in salaries and wages during the year and the capital invested in the telephone business was more than three and a half times as extensive as the telegraph industry and furnished employment for more than five times as many persons.

The telephone industry began in 1876, thirty-two years later than the introduction of the telegraph. At first the two industries were associated, but it was not long before they were "divorced" and became to some extent competitors.

In 1907 a total of 14,670,142 miles of wires was in use for the transmission of commercial messages, and of this total 12,999,369 miles, or 89.2 per cent, was used primarily for telephone messages, and 1,570,773 miles, or 10.8 per cent, for the telegraph business.

At the close of 1907 the amount of wire in use by the telephone systems of the country exceeded that in use in 1902 by more than 8,000,000 miles. The industry gave regular employment to 65,417 more persons in 1907 than it did five years earlier, and the amount expended in salaries and wages was greater by $32,025,506 in 1907 than in 1902.

Twenty Years Ago in Oakland

The death of Dr. W. B. Somonton occurred this morning at 8:30 o'clock. The deceased had been practising in this city for the past twelve years. He was 63 years of age, a native of Philadelphia and a graduate of the Pennsylvania State College of Medicine.

The census returns, so far as available at the present time, give the following number of residents to the various divisions of Alameda county: Alameda, 11,184; Berkeley, 1,119; Brooklyn township (outside), 3,001; Castro Valley, 1,177; Golden Gate, 772; Hayward, 1,425; Irvington, 750; Lark, 756; Livermore and Pleasanton, 3,733; Mt. Eden, 962; Mission, 750; Niles, 676; Oakland, 49,700; San Leandro, 1,850; San Lorenzo, 800; Alvarado, 2,896; District 22 (part of Eden township), 3,722; Warm Springs, 448. These figures total 89,286. The population of the county will figure up considerably over 90,000. Enumerator Cox is still working in the Piedmont district. J. E. Wamsley is still recording the people in a part of Washington township. The missing bundle from Broadwell's district has been traced to Washington, whether it was sent through mistake. H. A. Melvin, who took the last census, ten years ago, says that if the general census be taken again it will show that Oakland has a population of 55,000. The unhappy troubles between M. English and his wife, Grace English, have not been settled as yet from all accounts it is probable the lady will prosecute her suit divorce now pending in San Francisco to a final termination.

Two local plumbers have been arrested for doing defective work their fitting up of houses. One of the Citizens are thinking more of bonding the city for needed public improvements. As the seems to be drawing near when taxpayers will have an opportunity of voting on the question of whether or not the city shall go ahead, it are crystallizing and there is much encouragement from the indications that the crystallization is in the direction of improvement.

The section of the Piedmont road between the power house at head of Lake Merritt and Piedmont Springs is tried by the director of the company and the first car over the track rolled along smoothly, indicating that the would be great success. The company is having ten combination eleven open cars manufactured to operate on the line.

The arrangements of the San Francisco Brewery Company (limousine) the taking over of the brewing plant in this city and across the bay, with exception of the National, Enter-

OAKLAND TRIBUNE*'MERELY MARY ANN' SCORES*ISETTA JEWEL AT YE LIBERTY GIVEN AN OVATION

Zangwill's Character Fades Away Into the Personality of Popular Actress.

PLAY IS PROBLEM, NOT PROBLEM PLAY

Oakland Theater Favorites Make Englishmen's Puppets Live On Stage.

It was merely Izetta Jewel at Ye Liberty last night, if you needed the ovation that a capacity audience gave her and saw only the floral rings that they planted at her feet. "Merely Mary Ann" faded away into the personality of the player—perhaps just as Zangwill intended she should—and it was just Miss Jewel from the moment Mary Ann stumbled down the hall steps of Mrs. Leadbatter's lodgings to that joyful occasion when she decided to marry her ex-roaring hero and live happily ever afterward.

The audience made Miss Jewel voice her glad-to-be-back sentiments when she first appeared, which took her, as she said, out of her character and made it difficult to get back.

SIMPLE AND INTRICATE.

For, be it known, Mary Ann as a stage heroine is a trifle intricate. Her very simplicity is responsible for that. Poor, heartbroken little Mary Ann rose to her greatest grief when she saw Lancelot going out of her life, but deep as was her sorrow and lofty as were the heights of her outburst she was only Mary Ann and couldn't tear her hair. It all had to be kept inside the unsophisticated bounds of mind. Mary Ann, and Izetta Jewel held it there.

One hardly knows what to say of Zangwill's comedy. It is as different as Mary Ann.

Review it from the beginning, you say? That would be the proper caper—but where does it begin?

TASTE OF LONDON.

After a taste of London on a stormy night, a smattering of Mrs. Leadbatter's Cocney, a titter from Rosie and an opening roar from Lancelot, Mary Ann floats in, shambles across the stage and stumbles pasts.

It's the first act and you wonder where they lost the plot. Give your American dramatist his material and he'll tangle his hero in a marvelous assortment of complications before the creature has been on the stage five minutes.

But "Merely Mary Ann!" Act I begins in the air and ends there, with Mary Ann five steps up, lighted candle in hand, face uplifted and calling down favors on the head of the composer.

THEATRE BEGINS PLAY.

And, perhaps it is just there that the play begins; just there where the heart-billed "God bless Mister Lancelet" is piped out in the darkened hallway of Mrs. Leadbatter's lodging-house, with the rain beating down outside and a wind shaking the pane.

For hero worshiping Izetta loves yet again, but through the simple heart of Mary Ann, and after all what is the comedy but a love story, the unfolding of a life, the portrayal of a character?

Miss Jewel had no difficulty in stepping out of the hair-pulling, weepy dramas, of which she has had her share. Her voice and build and mannerisms seemed to fit into Mary Ann's "print" and gingham apron. She was as simple as Zangwill demanded, as unsophisticated as the "pigs and trees" and "sheep" that had been her world before "Fayther" and "mifher" died.

As Bertram Lancelot, a composer, Sydney Ayres roared a trifle too much. Artistic temperament doesn't always demand a rant, though it wasn't quite that which the popular Bishop leading man displayed. He was just too loud, a first night loudness that was filed off even before finish was written to the story last evening.

As Peter George Friend, Izetta couldn't be anybody else if he wanted to, for which the audience has every reason to be thankful. Breezy as usual, full of life, as usual, and George Friend—as usual, he tripped his way through four acts and gave a realistic touch to the business man who leads a double life, writing popular songs by night.

WEBSTER SCORES.

As Rev. Samuel Smidge, a country vicar, last night George Webster gave his audience a taste of ability that made the appetite demand more.

Henry Shumer as the publisher, James Gleason as O'Gorman, journalist; Clarence Elmer as Jim Blaydes, a medical student, and Robert Harrison in the dress suit of Lord Tortington had little chance to soar above their own words, but they filled in and sounded no false note in the composition.

Mrs. Mina Gleason as Mrs. Leadbatter had a difficult time with her Cockney, but that, too, can be laid to a first-night performance. Mrs. Maribel Seymour gave a touch of realism and plenty of giggles to the daughter, Rosie, and Misses Gladys Webster and Edna Sharpe did likewise, "the Sisters Trippet" from a London musical.

Lady Cheyne, the Countess of Foxwell, May Gladys Foxwell and Lady Glynn as portrayed by Misses Lila Hudson, Lucille Webster, Ramona Radcliffe and Bessie Sankey, and introduced first in the last act, were all that Zangwill wanted of them and no more, which wasn't much, at that. They were fillers-in and had thankless duties to perform, but did those well.

It's a curious mixture that Zangwill brewed in his melting pot. He lost no chance to refute the canard that your Englishman is not humorous, that he is too roost-beefy to conduct a love story that doesn't reel off and startle. Take out that humor and the love story and the comedy would fall flat to the ground, like a dramatic house of cards.

When, in the third act, Lancelot informs Mary Ann that they must part, that their plane to see London together have taken wings, he tells her "It's all changed now."

And she demands: "Why is it changed?" There you are, and here I am, "here you are, and here be I." That's all there is to "Merely Mary Ann," but it is a mighty lot, at that, and well worth seeing.

ASK LOWER TAX RATE AS AID TO CONSOLIDATION*Movement Started for Purpose of Encouraging Junction of City and County Government

Liberally signed, a petition was presented to the city council last night asking that in fixing the tax rate for the year the rate be placed lower than the present rate, rather than higher. The petition, which gave as a reason the encouragement of the movement for consolidation with adjoining cities and the formation of a city and county government that would result from the lowering of the rate in the larger city, was referred to committee. It read as follows:

We, the undersigned taxpayers of Oakland, respectfully represent it as follows:

The citizens of Oakland have for many years been trying to enlarge the area of our city with the ultimate hope of obtaining a consolidated city and county government.

During the past year the area of the city has more than doubled and its taxable property largely increased.

We respectfully petition the city government not to increase the tax rate more than that of last year, but rather to lower it, love it, yet keep it high enough through the simple heart of Mary Ann, and after all what is the comedy but a love story, the unfolding of a life, the portrayal of a character?

Miss Jewel had no difficulty in stepping out of the hair-pulling, weepy dramas, of which she has had her share. Her voice and build and mannerisms seemed to fit into Mary Ann's "print" and gingham apron. She was as simple as Zangwill demanded, as unsophisticated as the "pigs and trees" and "sheep" that had been her world before "Fayther" and "mifher" died.

As Bertram Lancelot, a composer, Sydney Ayres roared a trifle too much.

Artistic temperament doesn't always demand a rant, though it wasn't quite that which the popular Bishop leading man displayed. He was just too loud, a first night loudness that was filed off even before finish was written to the story last evening.

As Peter George Friend, Izetta couldn't be anybody else if he wanted to, for which the audience has every reason to be thankful. Breezy as usual, full of life, as usual, and George Friend—as usual, he tripped his way through four acts and gave a realistic touch to the business man who leads a double life, writing popular songs by night.

WEBSTER SCORES.

As Rev. Samuel Smidge, a country vicar, last night George Webster gave his audience a taste of ability that made the appetite demand more.

Henry Shumer as the publisher, James Gleason as O'Gorman, journalist; Clarence Elmer as Jim Blaydes, a medical student, and Robert Harrison in the dress suit of Lord Tortington had little chance to soar above their own words, but they filled in and sounded no false note in the composition.

Mrs. Mina Gleason as Mrs. Leadbatter had a difficult time with her Cockney, but that, too, can be laid to a first-night performance. Mrs. Maribel Seymour gave a touch of realism and plenty of giggles to the daughter, Rosie, and Misses Gladys Webster and Edna Sharpe did likewise, "the Sisters Trippet" from a London musical.

Lady Cheyne, the Countess of Foxwell, May Gladys Foxwell and Lady Glynn as portrayed by Misses Lila Hudson, Lucille Webster, Ramona Radcliffe and Bessie Sankey, and introduced first in the last act, were all that Zangwill wanted of them and no more, which wasn't much, at that. They were fillers-in and had thankless duties to perform, but did those well.

It's a curious mixture that Zangwill brewed in his melting pot. He lost no chance to refute the canard that your Englishman is not humorous, that he is too roost-beefy to conduct a love story that doesn't reel off and startle.

Take out that humor and the love story and the comedy would fall flat to the ground, like a dramatic house of cards.

When, in the third act, Lancelot informs Mary Ann that they must part, that their plane to see London together have taken wings, he tells her "It's all changed now."

And she demands: "Why is it changed?" There you are, and here I am, "here you are, and here be I."

That's all there is to "Merely Mary Ann," but it is a mighty lot, at that, and well worth seeing.

RECOMMENDATIONS PASSED.

Recommendations of the street committee were received and passed by the council as follows:

ELECTRICS TO FEATURE EXHIBIT

Many Cars of This Type Will Be Shown at Electric Show at the Coliseum.

(By J. A. HOULIHAN)
An important feature of the Pacific Coast Exposition to be held in the San Fran. Fair, Oct. 1 to Nov. 1, will be the exhibition of electric vehicles, which is the first of its kind to be held in the West. It is planned by the various electric manufacturers for purposes of demonstrating the merits and possibilities of electric devices. It is expected that the manufacture and production of electric vehicles will be shown at the Coliseum in November. It is interesting in the extreme in that Motorizing in Normandy is as follows:

Electric vehicles who start from Paris with their own electrical equipment, will travel on the great part of country roads in automobiles, will only travel on the roads of France, No. 34, which leads to Paris via Pointe du Raz. The cars for country roads have been running the kilometer stand which is not the same as in the motor vehicle, so that they may run less traffic and they give one with more intimate acquaintance with the towns and villages and with the people on meets en route.

Driving in in the fair we left the Route National when we reached the town line through the village of St. Isidore, and swelled the ranks of the drivers to the north, pointed toward the village of St. Isidore, and when we had our driving in front of the American Express Company office, and as we saw the long hill to the level, I thought that we had to go up to the top, but could not see any schedule to follow, but could

BEAR GETS LOOSE; TERRORIZES CROWD

Animal Escapes From Cage,
But Is Finally Captured
by Police.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—A brown bear that escaped from its cage at the beach yesterday afternoon terrorized the summer colonists of Carville and led three mounted policemen in a chase that lasted more than five hours before the fugitive was lassoed in Golden Gate Park last night.

The beach was alive with a crowd of women and children, and there was a mad scampor to keep out of the bear's path.

The animal seemed to enjoy the furor it was creating and went where the crowds were thickest.

Mounter Polcemen Black, Merchant and Truitt were dispatched to Carville, but by the time they came galloping up the bear had discreetly sought a hiding place.

Shortly before 8 o'clock the animal was located at the southern extremity of Golden Gate Park. When Black, Merchant and Truitt appeared, they found the bear crouching near the car tracks. It showed fight, but it was finally lassoed and led back to the roadhouse and put in a stronger cage.

SEX-GORED BOX-PLAITED SKIRT.
Tribune Pattern No. 3291

All Sizes Allowed.

On the many novelties which fashion has brought us, the box-plaited skirt is one of the favorites. This skirt is well suited to such materials as linen, voile, foulard, voile and other fabrics which have not too much body. This skirt which we show in our illustration is one of the most practical of these models. It is cut with six gores, and the box pleats are shaped so as to be slightly smaller at the top, where the edges meet and are stitched down to some distance below the curve of the hips. For the balance of their length they are pressed very flat and have considerable spring when the wearer walks. This would be an excellent skirt for walking and might easily be made a full five inches from the ground. The pattern is cut in sizes, 22 to 32 inches waist measure. To make the skirt in the medium size will require 5½ yards of material either 36 or 44 inches wide.

Price of pattern, 10 cents.

They Tickled Her Feet To Test Out Her Sanity

ST. LOUIS.—That Mrs. Ross Fornoff does not love her husband she admits. That this is a symptom of insanity she vigorously denies. It is one of the points of contention to be thrashed out in the divorce court, where her suit is pending. "My husband told me in 1903," said Mrs. Fornoff, "just before this series of trips to asylums for the insane began, that he could not understand why I did not love him. He said girls with some sense liked him and that if I didn't I must be crazy. No one but a crazy woman, he said, would want to give up a comfortable home like ours."

The suit to divorce Louis Fornoff, who lives at 6138 Berlin avenue and is a real estate cashier, followed Mrs. Fornoff's fifth imprisonment for a nervous breakdown, in which she underwent the foot-tickling test. This was the last str several times. So I was sent to the city hospital by way of the dispensary.

"At the hospital two young doctors received me. They told me to sit on a table. I did. Then they told me to take off my shoes. I obeyed. Then each of them took a toothpick from his pocket and began gravely tickling the sole of my foot."

Goes to See Best Girl In His Oldest Clothes

NEW YORK—"Romance?" Kermit Roosevelt repeated the word that had been thrown at him by dozens of interviewers since it was said he was going back to Paris—and perhaps Miss Margaret Rutherford, first daughter of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr.

"Huh do I look as though I were going to see my best girl togged out in these rags?" he asked and pointed to the green ribbed old business suit that seemed to cry aloud for a ministering tailor and the rather soiled Panama hat.

In truth Kermit looked fair from a happy young swain sailing to the side of his lady fair as he stood on the Hamburg-American liner Amerika today.

"Really, I don't even know Miss Ruthford," explained Kermit blushing. "I'm just going to travel in different countries in Europe and visit friends. I have no particular reason in going to Europe. I am not going to study, but just to look around. I will spend some time in Paris as the guest of Warington Dawson, a magazine writer. I will also visit Berlin, Vienna and other cities."

Young Roosevelt was accompanied to the steamer by Congressman Cocks of Oyster Bay. As he bade Mr. Cocks good-bye Kermit handed the congressman a leather-bound novel for his mother and several little gifts for other members of the family.

HAVE TO EXCUSE.

When the congressman had gone Kermit strolled out on the deck and came upon Captain Knuth of the Amerika. The captain shook hands warmly and presented Kermit to a very attractive young woman who was standing nearby. Kermit engaged her in animated conversation for a moment and then strolled on. His way was blocked by an inquisitive interviewer.

"Tell me the real facts of this story about Miss Rutherford," pressed the interviewer. Kermit looked around in a startled fashion and blushed.

"Really, I'll have to excuse me," he finally said.

"But don't you intend to meet any girls on the other side?"

"Well," answered the ex-President's son shyly, "I like girls as well as the next one. Sure I expect to meet some."

"Miss Rutherford?"

"I can't say." Again the blush.

"I suppose you'll continue your course in Harvard next fall?" said the interviewer.

"Well, that depends," hesitated Kermit, and then he fled without explaining himself further.

A betting man might lay odds of 10 to 1 there's a girl somewhere.

To Educate Women In Trade Schools

Through a decree of the Minister of Public Works opening the State trade and technical schools to both sexes alike, Austrian women will enjoy a greatly enlarged choice of occupations among the chief new trades and industries which they can now enter upon—the artistic leather work and bookbinding, photography, watchmaking, ceramics, cabinetwork, woodworking, as well as some branches of the chemical and electrical trades. Hitherto women have been entirely excluded from these big schools and those who desired to obtain such training were compelled either to go abroad or else attend expensive private institutions at home. But while the women are rejoicing at the new opportunities of work afforded them, their male relatives do not share their enthusiasm, pointing out that even under the old conditions out of every 1000 wage earners in Austria 400 were women.

Wants Women Nurses for Insane Asylum

TRENTON, N. J.—Dr. Henry A. Cotter, medical head of the State Hospital for the Insane, is out with a statement that only women nurses in the institution will stop the scandalous reports of killing of patients by abuse. He says the men naturally are too rough with patients, and that male patients are not so excited by the approach of women nurses. He believes the presence of women nurses is restful to the diseased mind.

According to the same informant the cottage of Barton W. Lingan has been placed at his disposal and together with an untrained New York hostess, Mrs. Astor is to occupy the house. Neither is to entertain extensively, says this friend, but there will be house guests throughout the season.

This was interesting news to the Paris friends of Mrs. Astor. None had heard of any plan to visit the United States. She has been among the most popular of the American women, and is known throughout the world. She went there to try to obtain a divorce from Col. J. H. Jacob Astor a few months ago, and the supposed position was that she would remain there permanently.

Despite the hospitality lavished on her by English hostesses, Mrs. Astor is quoted by this friend as saying that living alone among strangers has palled on her and she wants to get back to her friends of other days.

NEW YORK—"Come, Dot, the Osprey is coming in and we must go down and meet father and sister Alice," said Edna Gilligan yesterday morning. She is three years old and she was talking to her Scotch collie.

Dot wagged his tail and left a shady spot on the veranda of the hotel at Clason Point and went running with his master to the pier and jumped into a boat to rescue Edna. They were too late; Dot was ahead of them. When they got to the end of the pier they found the dog struggling against the tide, but holding up his little mistress to the water.

About two hundred feet out was the Osprey, the motor boat of Edward G. Gilligan, Dot's father and proprietor of the hotel for whom they were about to leave after being fed, and the was not so easy to settle with.

She said he had fallen in love with Briggs, though he is only 35 and she is 46. When he left from time to time to go out on jobs, he always wrote her endearing letters and talked of the time when they would go East to live after being married.

One month ago she learned for the first time that he was married and she then became suspicious of him. Three days ago she decided to have him arrested. The father offered to settle for $800, but Mrs. Crows who, with a shotgun to her shoulder, made three traps saw a cord of wood for her when they were about to leave after being fed, and the was not so easy to settle with.

Edna was not at home; neither were

Mamma and Papa Gilligan. But Lillian, a seventeen-year-old sister of Edna, was. Just what Denler said or what Lillian said doesn't matter. A few hours later the family telephone rang. Gilligan answered.

"This is Denler," said a voice. "I have married your daughter."

"What!" exclaimed Gilligan. "You are crazy. Edna is here in the room with me."

"That's all right," came the reply. "I didn't marry Edna. But Lillian we will be home from Crown Point as soon as the machine can take us. Are you going to give us your blessing?"

"Go to the devil!" yelled the trite father.

POWELL-BURNS MATCH STILL HANGING FIRE OVER WEIGHTS
John L. Sullivan Is Still Popular as Ever as Early Day RingmasterJOHN L. SULLIVAN STILL IDOL OF THE FIGHT FANS

Veteran of the Ring Has Magnetic Powers That Made Him the Greatest of All Ringsters

By EDDIE SMITH.

WITH the hope of catching John L. Sullivan in one of his talkative moods the writer called at the Central Theater, where the old-time hero of the prize ring is holding fort, last evening and as we stepped into the place the problem struck me more forcibly than ever: Will the magic name of John L. Sullivan ever die? Surely you would not think so to see the way Sullivan packs the people into every show house he visits, and well may it be, for of all the fighting men born of woman this gray-haired, story-telling veteran is the king of them all. It is not going to be the purpose of this article to eulogize Mr. Sullivan, for in this we would fall short for many reasons. John L. Sullivan is not faultless; he has as many faults as you and me, and perhaps a few more; but as a fighter—well, thank goodness, many of the men who have come along during the late years of pugilism, and who have been champions and near champions did not earn their living with the gloves in his time. Is it any wonder that the name Sullivan is everlasting in the world of pugilism? John was the last of the champions under the London Prize Ring rules and the first champion under the Marquis of Queensberry rules. Sullivan was beaten, that's true; every fighter has to be beaten if he sticks with the game long enough. When he was beaten however, it was not caused by nervousness or fear. It was caused by increasing age and poor condition, the latter being the result of an overabundance in cocky confidence as much as any other one thing. In the old days they used to say, and you can hear the same argument still made, that Sullivan used to scare his opponents half to death before the gong rang by glaring at them with a pair of fighting grey eyes that would pierce an armor plate. Perhaps this is true, and one of the reasons for the writer believing it is the story. Billy Delaney tells of how long he schooled Corbett to dance about the ring and wave his hands to supposed friends in the audience and pay no attention to Sullivan. Delaney, too, must have been afraid of that magic stare. Be it as you wish regarding the magic eye and all that sort of thing, there is no one bold enough to say that Sullivan was afraid or that he showed any great desire to keep away from any of the white men in the ring during his time.

SULLIVAN DREW COLOR LINE.

The only man that could say that Sullivan refused to meet him was old Peter Jackson, and Sullivan had drawn the color line long before he ever saw Jackson. In fact, so far as our knowledge goes, Sullivan never fought a black man. Sullivan was the last of the pugilists who toured the country offering money to any man no white man, and he did the trick on the level. Many another champion has done this same trick, but most of the men they tackled were planted. Or in other words these champions always carried a few men with them so that in case a tough one appeared at the stage door they could tell him that another had been selected, or that evening and stand on one of the steps. Fitzsimmons did this less than any of the others, day after day, but Sullivan did it. The art and craftsmanship of Sullivan, as well as his wonderful speed and pinpoint hammer blows, had lots to do with his success. In the ring he was likened unto the lion protecting the young cubs. When Sullivan faced Jake Kilrain, his present sparring partner, in the last of the bare-knuckle prize ring fights, it was predicted that the time had come for Corbett to meet him. John L. Sullivan had failed to knock out Charlie Mitchell in their memorable fight at Chantilly, France, and without deviating into the reasons the men who wanted to see him beat backed Kilrain for $4,000 and this was to stake as well as the champion's ap belt. Charlie Mitchell was brought over from England to second Kilrain, and Mitchell beat out the horses of Kilrain, but he did not beat the beaten Sullivan, but he did not fail of the job that had been put up to rob the champion and how he stuck thirty-nine rounds by falling to the ground every time he had an opportunity and how the fight was ended called a draw when Sullivan had his man in a touch on when he could not in a few rounds more.

POWELL-BURNS MATCH IN AIR.

Jim Griffin has probably lost the Frank Burns-Lew Powell tournament, but the fight is to stage the latter part of this month. This is not good news for the fans for we had expected to see a great mill when that pair of swift hot slinging light weights got together. Powell refuses to take a lower weight than 135 pounds, however, and Burns will not meet him unless he makes 133 pounds. Burns is right. He is but a boy yet, and after making such a brilliant start he would indeed be foolish to be giving away so much as early in the game. Powell had no doubt picked up weight during his lay off and the experience he had of stepping into the ring with Wolgast in a condition that did not warrant him showing at his best and made him cautious. It may be that the match will be brought about all right and it is hoped that it will, but at this time it looks as if Griffin may match "One Round" Hogan and Burns and I hope the two will be as usual. Now as to what would be if it were Powell, I let any old port in a storm goes very well at this time.

Georgia Won't Have Johnson and Jeffries

ATLANTA, July 18.—Pictures of prizefights between white men and negroes are banned from Georgia by a bill passed in the Legislature today, but pictures of fights between white men can be exhibited.

A strong fight was made to bar all prize-fight pictures, whether the contestants were of different races or not but this was defeated, the majority of the legislators contending that while the negro-white fight pictures would be degrading and bad to taste, there would be no harm from exhibiting pictures of fights between white men.

LISTEN TO JOE GRIM.

Joe Grimm, the so-called Roman with the lion's heart, writes to let his friends in Italy know that he will be all he's got that Chapman Johnson won't stop him in 45 rounds. Grimm arrived recently from Paris. Grimm is sincere, but he had better go back to Italy.

WILLIAM L. TROUILLARD, Jr., the man who is most likely to carry on Dr. May's work, has been retained to do the legal work of the New Remedy Association.

LAWRENCE MINTON, his attorney, has filed a suit against the largest medical companies with their hired doctors or a U.S. Army doctor, one hundred years behind schedule, to prevent the sale of potent medicines, drugs, and medical supplies to Negroes.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The largest number of Negroes in the city are now represented by Dr. May and his associates.

FUTURE OF RACING UNDECIDED IN KENTUCKY

Lexington Association to Hold Meeting Thursday Regarding Question.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 19.—A call has been issued for a special meeting of the board of directors of the Kentucky Racing Association to be held here July 21 to decide whether a fall meeting shall be held in conjunction with those of Churchill Downs and Louisville. Mac Nease, who is working on the bill, says the 1915 directors look at the situation in the east.

New York's last sprinting law goes into effect September 1. Lexington, however, has no date set for its fall meet.

If the races are held they will be either late in September or early in November.

LET CAN STILL GO SOME.

In his boxing he still proves that he is able to go some even though he is carrying lots of flesh, and his entertainment at the Central is highly amateur and well worth seeing. In fact he may be the last time Sullivan will be on the coast giving exhibitions, as he is thinking of retiring and every sport-loving American should see the greats of all fighters we have produced.

Not so long ago when a certain noisy sailor across the bay was asking that he be connected with the game who they thought was the greatest heavy weight fighter the game ever knew the writer gave as his opinion Sullivan. The great majority said Jeffries and many of us who had seen Sullivan were roared. The last championship battle proved we were right, however, for John L. Sullivan never once showed off his strength when he pitted it against another in the ring. We're always willing to doff our hats to the mighty John L. Sullivan, for he is our real ring hero of the tough day when you had to fight for your end of the purse or walk home with nothing in your jeans.

POWELL-BURNS MATCH IN AIR.

Jim Griffin has probably lost the Frank Burns-Lew Powell tournament, but the fight is to stage the latter part of this month. This is not good news for the fans for we had expected to see a great mill when that pair of swift hot slinging light weights got together. Powell refuses to take a lower weight than 135 pounds, however, and Burns will not meet him unless he makes 133 pounds. Burns is right. He is but a boy yet, and after making such a brilliant start he would indeed be foolish to be giving away so much as early in the game.

Powell has been added to the string former boxer and Kenne's boy is to be his co-pilot. Burns is reported to where badly in his work and does not expect to win any of the three scheduled events with aplomb.

With a hope that we might be able to enlighten the fight fans on this subject and give forth the name of the great unknown, we have delved into history and find that Joe Jeanette, Gwynn Ed, Sam Soozay, Zink, Billiberts, Bill Squires, and Joe Chonski are eligible to fight from one to six hundred rounds with or without training.

Of course, we must not overlook the fact that Jim Corbett has an ace in his sleeve, and this ace is as deadly as any in the history of the sport.

TURF GOSSIP

'SH! SPEAK SOFTLY,
JIM CORBETT HAS A GREAT DISCOVERY

Put on the soft pedal and play a little weird music. High Melodic, and he who dares to whisper the Impar. Of course, the secret Mac, has his own; it is shared partly by the man of many excuses, Jim Corbett. Way down low Jim goes to Mac, and tells him that he has an "unknown" fighter that can whip Johnson and ever one else of the ropes arena. Mac, being of an easy disposition and never having herded bulls before falls to the yawn and makes the following statement.

The unknown will be named by James J. Corbett and will also be trained by him, the fight to take place in the United States, England or Australia, and I agree to offer a purse greater than that offered by any other person.

"As an evidence of good faith, I am willing to deposit $5000 as a guarantee to Timmy Sullivan or any other responsible person. The same deposit will go as a side bet if desired."

"Upon a stipulation I make is that the contest is 20 rounds.

WOMEN'S GUN CLUB WILL GIVE TRAMP'S A WARM WELCOME

KANSAS CITY, July 19.—Tramps who visit the suburb of Argentine in the Kansas side of the State line, may be confronted with a new and unexpected welcome.

The woman of Argentine, alarmed by the many tramps who have recently visited that place, it is said, are turning to handle firearms effectively and plans are being made for the organization of a gun club.

Sororal telephones messages were received yesterday at the Argentine police station from women asking about the city ordinance pertaining to the discharging of firearms within the city limits.

"A gun club will be a splendid thing for a gun woman of this town," said Mrs. G. W. Welley of Argentine, last night.

"There are many women whose husbands work at night or are away on extended trips. If the tramps knew that we can shoot them, then perhaps they will stop prowling around our homes."

Argentina is a division point of the Santa Fe Railroad.

TRACTION CO. TO READJUST TRACKS

Engineer Says That Work May Proceed Without Delay.

The Oakland Traction Company is getting ready to readjust the Broadway tracks from the junction of Telegraph Avenue to the line of Water street. "In fact," said Engineer Boucks, who returned to his office today from a vacation, "we have been ready to proceed with the work since April 1, when the Eastern manufacturers of manganese steel promised to deliver to us the material for the First and Seventh street crossings."

The rails for these crossings are now promised to be delivered July 31. We can do nothing until they arrive here. The contract for this material had to be sent East, because there are no manufacturers of manganese steel on this side of the Atlantic.

"We have been and are now just as anxious as the public to make this change in these Broadway tracks, which were laid when the cars employed in street railway transportation were much smaller and narrower than those now in service."

TOO CLOSE TOGETHER.

"At present there is only nine feet of space between the inner edges of the two tracks, which brings the cars moving in opposite directions too close together. They will be spread apart twenty feet under the new adjustment. The concrete piers at these crossings which were constructed by the late Alonso R. Crupper, then engineer of the James G. Fair San Pablo Avenue cable railway system, will not be reconstructed, for they are not necessary in the case of an aerial electric trolley system. Concrete piers had to be built for the cable road to protect the cable slot and channel from the destructive hammering of the steam railroad trains."

"I have not heard from any source that during my absence from the city any change has been made in the plans for starting reconstruction, for we can really do nothing until we get the manganese steel crossings. If they are delivered as now promised at the end of this month, then we will proceed at once with the work of shifting the tracks."

WOMAN IS GUILTY OF RAISING RUMPS

Tried to Celebrate "Sane Fourth" by Row With Neighbors.

Explaining that she and her neighbors were trying to celebrate a "sane Fourth" by engaging in a neighborhood row in which foul language was the principal medium of exchange, Mrs. Mary Bonner, of 1127 Santa Fe Avenue, appeared before Judge George Samuels in her own defense this morning to answer a charge of disturbing the peace.

Witnesses against her were Mrs. Ida Matzkivitz, a neighbor who fled the complaint, and Miss Margaret Thornhill, who presented the charge of change of course which took place. Mrs. Bonner denied having used profane and vulgar language, but admitted starting a row. She was found guilty of disturbing the peace and will be sentenced July 2.

MOYER TO ATTACK TAFT'S POLICY

Labor Leader Claims That Injunctions Work Only in Employers' Favor.

DENVER, July 19.—President Charles H. Moyer will attack the injunction policy of President Taft in his report, which is scheduled to come before the convention of the Western Federation of Miners this afternoon. Moyer will say that President Taft's interpretation of injunctions works to the detriment of labor unions in general and to the benefit of employers only.

Until 2 o'clock this afternoon the convention had been engaged in an executive session at which the attempt was made to settle a dispute in the Butte delegation as to the seating of W. E. Bradley and John Powers, each claiming to be a delegate.

An amusing feature of the convention has been the receipt by Fred Clough, a delegate from Goldfield, Nev., of a package of more than one hundred letters, which, upon being opened, proved to be upon the divorce problem. Clough had regarded the convention with contents of several of the letters, which he announced would cause a national sensation if all were read, when he received a telegram from Goldfield intimating that the letters had been mailed to him by mistake.

Shippers to Favor Freight Increases

Many Believe Roads Should Be Allowed to Raise Rates.

CHICAGO, July 19.—That the shippers of the country are not likely to present an unbroken front in their fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission against increased freight rates developed yesterday when a report received from the Shippers' committee of nineteen some of the Eastern men would go on record as being in favor of permitting the railroads to increase freight rates within reason.

The committee, which was appointed during the shippers' mass meeting in Chicago last May, will meet today at the Hotel Leavenworth with a view to adopting a plan of battle agreed to in increased tariffs which have been filed by the railroads and held up by the commission.

Coffee, who was the representative of the Daughters of Israel Relief Society of this city to the National Conference of Jewish Charities in St. Louis, will describe to the local organization the conditions in the different institutions which she visited during her stay.

Mrs. Coffee also attended the National Conference of Charities and Corrections in St. Louis. The proceedings of that conference will also be touched upon in her address to the society.

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—The war for the open shop is on in earnest in Stockton, and both sides declare they will not recede from the stand taken. Yesterday the citizens' committee, which has been making an effort to arbitrate the differences between employers and employees, resigned, as it had reached the conclusion it was useless to make any further attempts to adjust matters. Last week the contractors offered to reduce the new scale $4.40 instead of $4.60, the original amount they demanded, but the contractors' association held out for the flat sum of $4, and declared they would not pay another cent.

About a dozen meetings were held by the committees from the contractors and carpenters, but at no time was the dispute in a fair way to settlement. The contractors' position is that unless they returned to work by 8 o'clock yesterday morning other men would be obtained to take their places.

Very few mechanics went to work, and building is about at a standstill. The contractors say they will at once advertise for men in other cities and soon resume operations.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—Major E. V. Smith, U. S. A., was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Superior Judge Van Nostrand this morning from Cora L. Smith on the ground of desertion.

The proceedings lasted only a few moments and were very formal in their character. Major Smith told the court that his wife deserted him in February, 1907, and that at the present time she was residing in Florida.

When asked by Judge Van Nostrand why Mrs. Smith had left him the major replied:

"She simply said that she was tired of army life and that she preferred to live alone."
